LET ZION'S SONS AND DAUGHTERS SAY

- 2. Their Sabbath, o'er, with sweet perfume, amid the morning's early gloom, his followers hasten to the tomb.

 Hallelujah!
- 3. With Mary Magdalene view Salome, – James' mother too; they come the sacred corpse t'imbue. Hallelujah!
- 4. White-robed and seated on the stone, God's angel speaks in thrilling tone: "Your Lord to Galilee hath gone." Hallelujah!
- 5. His best-beloved, with eager pace, outstripping Peter in the race, first cometh to th'appointed place. Hallelujah!
- 6. Where gathered his disciples true, there in the midst Christ stood to view, proclaiming: "Peace be unto you!" Hallelujah!
- 7. When Didymus now heard it said, that Jesus rising left the dead, strong doubt possessed his heart and head. Hallelujah!

- 8. "See, Thomas, see my wounded side, these hands and feet!" the Saviour cried, "Doubt not: believe; in me confide."

 Hallelujah!
- 9. When Thomas searched with earnest heed feet, hands, and side, from doubting freed, he said: "Thou art my God indeed!" Hallelujah!
- 10. Who have not seen with mortal eyes, and yet believe, shall win the prize, eternal life beyond the skies.

 Hallelujah!
- 11. Upon this hallowed festal day, triumphant swell the joyful lay;O let us bless the Lord alway!Hallelujah!
- 12. For grace like this, so rich and free, most humble thanks we pay to thee, great Three in One and One in Three! Hallelujah!

Words: Thomas Conrad Porter, translated from the Latin. Music: Johannes Thomas Rüegg. Copyright © 2020 Johannes Thomas Rüegg. Source: www.christmysong.com/224/