"RISE: HE CALLETH THEE."

- 2. O blindest of the blind, whose eyes no ray can see; blind to all holy light and love, dark as thy soul may be; be of good cheer; arise: he calleth thee!
- 3. He comes to give thee sight, from gloom to set thee free; he comes to give thee blessèd light, to bid thy darkness flee.
 Be of good cheer; arise: he calleth thee!
- 4. He comes to end thy night,
 he comes with liberty;
 joy, peace, and life, behold, he brings,
 and glorious victory!
 Be of good cheer;
 arise: he calleth thee!
- 5. O saddest of the sad,whose eyes no joy can see,O child of weariness and gloom,whate'er thy case may be,be of good cheer;arise: he calleth thee!
